SmartScreen provides over 80,000 pages of dedicated online support materials for tutors, assessors and learners of more than 140 City & Guilds qualifications.

What does SmartScreen do and how can it help me?

The materials on SmartScreen have been designed to support assessors and tutors delivering the Additional Diplomas in Teaching Literacy, ESOL and Numeracy in the Lifelong Learning Sector.

In addition to the more general qualification support materials, we have also provided handouts, activities and schemes of work. Some of this material is also available in the learner section for independent learning.

All materials have clear instructions where relevant and can be adapted to fit in with your delivery. The materials should be used in conjunction with the standards set for the qualification to ensure full coverage of the learning requirements. You may need to provide your learners with guidance or input when using the materials.
